High Commissioner undertook a field visit to the Brandix Apparel Park in Visakhapatnam on 08 September and met with the senior management of the Park led by its CEO Rear Admiral (Rtd) Neil Rozairo. High Commissioner Fernando was the first Sri Lankan Government senior official to visit the Park since its establishment twelve years ago.

The 1000-acre Apparel Park, managed by Brandix, is the largest Sri Lankan investment in India and accommodates six companies owned by Brandix itself and several others belonging to other industrialists. The Park employs a total workforce of 23,000 and out of this, 17,500 are employed by Brandix-owned companies. Most of these employees are women. About 400 Sri Lankan technical hands and executive grade officers are among the workforce of the Park.

The High Commissioner later met the Sri Lankan workers in a separate meeting and sought to address their issues for which the intervention of the Government of Sri Lanka is required.

The High Commissioner was accompanied by Commodore Suresh de Silva, Defence Advisor of the High Commission of Sri Lanka in New Delhi during this visit.
